
quick clarification/question

Posted by Cool_guy552 - 2008/11/03 18:41

hello fello users, i am looking into the free dial up thing and just want to clarify what i know with you. when you use the connection and it asks for the modem number do u use your own cell phone number or do u use a number from the access list? and also after you answer this question could you please tell me step-by-step how to do this because my internet is currently down and i want to get this working.

p.s. im at my friends computer right now.

thanks if you decide to help!

=====

Re:quick clarification/question

Posted by matt - 2009/10/05 19:03

hm. been a long time since i used dialup and trying to recall windows configuration.

i think you can just put any number for the modem number.

it is the access number, the number the modem will dial, which has to be one of our own numbers from our list.

=====